

Sales Analysis

Insights Report

Mohd Shayan

Overview

Insights

A detailed analysis of the data revealed several key patterns and opportunities that can support strategic business decision-making

Weak Points

The analysis reveals key challenges and areas of improvement that require management attention

Recommendation

actions are recommended to address current challenges and maximize business growth opportunities

Conclusion

The findings summarize the current business performance and highlight key areas for strategic improvement

Top Insights

Highest Sales Region

The West region was the top-performing region, contributing 31.1 % of total revenue

Highest Sale Month

November recorded the highest sales of 352.46K, making it the best-performing month of the year.

Most Profitable Category

Office Supplies contributed 39.37% of the total profit, making it the most profitable product category.

Most Profitable Region

The East region generated 31.8% of the total profit, making it the most profitable region despite not being the highest in sales.

Additional Insights

Discounts Have Limited Impact on Sales Volume

- The majority of sales were generated from orders with no discount applied.

Highest Customer Concentration

- The West region has the highest number of customers, indicating a strong customer base and market presence.

Customer Base Concentrated in the West Region

- This strong customer base contributes to the region's position as the highest revenue generator.
-

Weak Points

Weakest Region

The South region recorded the lowest sales and the lowest profit among all regions.

Revenue Concentration Risk

The West region contributes 31.1% of total revenue, Heavy reliance on one region can create risk if demand declines there.

Seasonal Sales Dependence

November is the strongest month, while February is the weakest month

Dependence on a Single Profit Driver

Profitability is heavily influenced by the Office Supplies category, indicating potential overreliance on a single category for profit.

Recommendation

Improve Performance in the South Region

- Conduct market analysis to identify factors behind low sales and profitability.
- Implement targeted marketing campaigns and region-specific promotions to increase customer engagement.

Expand High-Profit Categories

- Increase focus on the Office Supplies category, which contributes 39.37% of total profit.
- Consider expanding product offerings and cross-selling opportunities within this category.

Replicate Successful Strategies from High-Performing Regions

- Analyze the sales and operational practices driving success in the West and East regions.
- Apply similar pricing, product, and marketing strategies to underperforming regions

Improve Regional Profitability

Investigate why the East region achieves the highest profit contribution (31.8%) and apply similar margin optimization strategies across other regions.

Conclusion

The business demonstrates strong overall performance, processing 9,993 orders and maintaining healthy customer demand without heavy reliance on discounts. The West region emerges as the primary revenue driver, supported by the largest customer base (3,203 customers), while the East region leads in profitability, contributing 31.8% of total profit. Office Supplies stands out as the most profitable category, generating 39.37% of total profit. Sales peak in November (352.46K), highlighting a significant seasonal opportunity. However, the South region remains the weakest performer in both sales and profit, representing the biggest opportunity for future growth. Overall, the business has a strong foundation with clear opportunities to improve regional performance and further optimize profitability.

Thank You

